Dave Gula. [2] He contacted me by email 28 Apr 2016. He saw my on-line information. He provided jpg's of his two grandparents from Wadowice Gorne parish: both birth (baptism) certificates, 2 versions of the marriage certificates. Birth certificates gave me the names of his 2 grandparents, 4 great grandparents and 6 of his 8 great great grandparents.

Gula & Sypek. Family names of Dave's grandparents. I'm interested because both names are in my family tree, from the same parish. In 2003 I did a big study of the Wadowice Gorne parish Gula & Sypek families; I made several Gula & Sypek descendancy trees - family lines going back to the oldest 1777 records from the parish, and there are other Gula & Sypek records that I have not connected into descendancy trees. Other Gula & Sypek descendants have seen my on-line documents and contacted me over the years, so I have made more trees for them, and connected some of us with common ancestors. Before Dave contacted me I had 7 Gula descendancies and 15 Sypek descendancies. So I have been motivated to do more studies connecting yet more living descendants of these two family lines. I also have done work on many other family lines.

Dave is the first living Gula for whom I have been able to trace a male Gula pedigree line back to the 1700's. I have Gula ancestors and I have helped others with Gula ancestors, but these are not direct male Gula lines. All this is from Wadowice Gorne, where the name Gula is quite common.

Sam Peck has Sypek ancestors; I did a Sypek tree and document for him in 2013. I connected his tree to Dave Gula's tree during this project. They have a common ancestor, Jan Sypek [6].

Wadowice Gorne Vital Records. My list of what records are available.

Wadowice Gorne Microfilms. That Vital Records web page has a list of the 3 LDS microfilms of data for Wadowice Gorne parish, with details of what information is in what film. I purchased copies of all 3 for storage at the local LDS library, for convenience in my research.

Parish Books. The Wadowice Gorne rectory has record books that have not been microfilmed. I visited the parish and studied these books and took extensive notes.

Tarnow Diocese Archive. The microfilms were made from the data stored here, which are civil copies (copied by handwriting), not parish originals. I visited the Archive and found some Wadowice Gorne records (1879 - 1885 Births, Marriages, Deaths) in those files that have not been microfilmed, so I took extensive notes of that data.

Excel Index. That Vital Records web page has links to my index, which I made in 2006. That index includes Wadowice Gorne microfilm records 1777 - 1799. For the 1800's I only added data for a few of my family lines, like Gwozdz and Kmiec. Over the years I added 1800's data for my studies of other families, including Gula & Sypek, but not all Gula & Sypek data is included in the Index.

Here is a direct link to that index:

<http://www.gwozdz.org/WadowiceGorne/WadowiceGorneDataBase.xls>

A simplified version of this index database in web format is also available:

<http://www.gwozdz.org/WadowiceGorne/WadowiceGorneVitalRecords.Html>

If you scroll down that file to Gula Wojciech you see births with this name in 1791 and 1798. I discuss those 2 here in this document, below. If you scroll further you see three Gula 0 Wojciech births after 1827; Gula 0 is my family line - those earlier Gula I have not matched into family lines. Further along there are more Gula lines but the name Wojciech only shows up in Gula 4. Gula 3 in that Index is not the same as Gula 3 here in Dave's document; by coincidence Gula 2 is the same; I'll need to standardize the numbering when I add Dave's line to my Index. Same with Sypek.

If you sort the Gula data using the on-line xls file, you'll notice all the Gula births between 1800 and 1831 are Gula 0. That's because I entered Gula birth data into my Index only for my family line in that time range. For 1834 to 1856 there are a few other Gula besides Gula 0 because I did a study for another Gula family and added that data. My master copy of my Index has more Gula data from recent years for my next on-line update, but still my Index is not close to complete after 1799.

Format; Descendancy; Tabs in Word. I use tabs to nicely arrange the data in columns in the Descendancy. The columns on the left for generations work nicely because there is no text to the left. You may see a problem with tabs for birth date and marriage columns, however. With different display drivers, sometimes a word is a bit longer or shorter so the next tab comes out differently. Try deleting or adding a tab. I have the tabs set short - 0.2 inches. A tab difference may cause a line to break into the next line, putting text on the far left. If you view this on a cell phone many of the data lines will break onto the next line and make it confusing. If you print this, extra line breaks may cause a Descendancy section to split pages, so fix that in "Page Layout" view before printing.

Bookmarks. Available as an alphabetical index here, in the Word version, DaveGula.doc. The bookmarks in the Descendancy all start with the letter "D". Use the [page number] bookmark "hot links" to jump around. Also, remember to use the Word "Find" to search for specific names and topics.

For studying the Notes, I recommend Word "Split" view, with the Descendancy at the top of the screen and the Notes for that same family at the bottom.

Common Family Names. In Wadowice Gorne Parish, late 18th century. I made a list in 2001, using my Index [8] of all Deaths from the microfilms [8], 1787 - 1799. Pietras [4] is #1, most common, with 44 entries. Kapinos ([2], [3]) #5 with 32. Gula ([2], [3], [3]) & Ogorzalek [4] tied for #7 with 22. Sypek [6], [7] & Robak ([5], [6]) tied for #10 with 18. Gwozdz #14 with 14.

Wladyslaw Gula. [2] English Walter, Latin Laudislaus. Dave's grandfather. Dave provided data for children & grandchildren. Birth certificate [8] says birth 1889. The Parish [8] has a birth book with 1889 that says "Wadowice Gorne" on the cover. I studied the books at the Wadowice Gorne parish (and also at Wadowice Dolne, which has had a parish since 1911) and determined that in 1885 they started separate books for the parish villages of Wadowice Gorne, Wadowice Dolne, and Wola Wadowska. (Wampierzow was always separate, with its own chapel.) Wladyslaw was born in Wadowice Dolne per his certificate. Since the parishes do not have a Wadowice Dolne book for births before 1900, his record is not at the parish. In the 1879-1885 birth records from Tarnow [8], I did find his sister Anna with the same parent and grandparents named. Dave provided the name of Wladyslaw's brother Jan. Notice that the house number on the birth certificate (70) matches the house number in Anna's birth record. It's pretty clear to me that the birth certificate was requested from the parish in 1931, at which time the information was copied from the Dolne book, which has disappeared from the shelf since then (I visited twice). Wladyslaw probably needed this certificate to apply for US citizenship.

Wojciech 2 Gula. [2] English Adalbert or Adelbert or Albert, Latin Adalbertus. Wladyslaw's father. I found his 1854 birth record in the microfilm, same mother & grandparents as in Wladyslaw's birth certificate [8]. Marriage: in previous versions of this document I reported that I did not find his marriage to Mazgaj in the Banns. Later, after I found the 1884 birth of his daughter Anna, I double checked the Banns and found the record. Wojciech's parents are both named the same as in the birth certificate. The name is spelled Mazgaj in both. For Agnieszka, her father is written as Jan, not Wojciech, otherwise the same as in the birth certificate. It seems the certificate is wrong; for discussion see the topic Wojciech Mazgaj [14]. The marriage date is added to the Banns record. The 1884 daughter birth record has parents and all 4 grandparents named, again with the grandfather "Joannes Mazgaj".

Wawrzyniec Gula. [2] English Laurence, Latin Laurentius. Wladyslaw's grandfather. I found his 1847 marriage in the microfilm, same bride as grandmother in Wladyslaw's birth record. Also 4 children including Wojciech 2 have the same mother; grandparents named for the previous generation. I found his birth record.

At the 1851 birth of his daughter Ludwika the maternal grandmother is written "Mariana ex Alberto Ogorzalek et Catharina nata Midura"; I figure Ogorzalek is a confusion with Marianna's grandmother; the Midura name needs investigation; it may be a hint at a previous generation. It's no problem, because at his other children's births the grandmother is correctly written as Maryanna Pietras daughter of Tomasz & Apolonia Ogorzalek; in particular the 1854 birth of Wojciech (previous topic) is OK. And of course those correct names are at his 1847 marriage.

Wojciech 1 Gula Marriage. [2] Wawrzyniec's father. I found his 1820 marriage in the microfilms. I searched for it and found it before I realized it's in my Index [8]. This is OK; it provided a double check of my Index. His wife Katarzyna Galica is also named in the 1847 marriage of his son Wawrzyniec, so this is the correct 1820 record. This marriage record does not get us to the previous Gula generation because his parents are not named. The bride's father Wawrzyniec Galica is named (not bride's mother, not groom's parents).

Wojciech 1 Gula Children. Grandparents are not named in the early 1800's, so the births in 1825 (Maryanna), 1825 (Wawrzyniec, previous topic), and 1827 (Andrzej) do not get us the previous generation. I did not make an effort to find all the births before 1830. More data is added to births in the 1830's, so I searched the microfilm and found 4 children born 1831 to 1847, providing the names of grandparents, except grandmothers are both just named Maryanna without family name. Grandfathers are Bartlomiej Gula & Wawrzyniec Galica.

Wojciech 1 Gula Birth. My Excel Index [8] has 2 different Wojciech Gula born before 1800: 1791 and 1798. Wojciech 1 Gula's Oct 1820 marriage record has him age 25, which means birth 1795, about half way between those two birth records. Both birth records are from house 69, but they have different parents. Different Gula fathers:

1 Apr 1791 Wojciech (Adalbertus) Gula born to Franciszek (Francis, Franciscus) Gula and his wife Apolonia Morytko.

16 Mar 1798 Wojciech (Adalbertus) Gula born to Bartlomiej Gula (Bartholomew, Bartholomaeus) and his wife Maryanna Kapinos.

Since Bartlomiej is named as grandfather in the children births (previous topic), that 1791 birth is the previous Gula generation ancestor couple.

Franciszek Gula & Apolonia Morytko are my ancestors. Franciszek is on page 12 of my book

<http://www.gwozdz.org/GwozdzFamilyTreeLivingDeleted.pdf>

I earlier missed Franciszek as the father at this 1791 birth of his son. I just added Wojciech Gula 1791 to my master copy of my book.

I'm intrigued that Wojciech Gula 1798 was born in the same house. I don't remember noticing that before. I had not researched his father Bartlomiej Gula.

I did a search for Adalbertus Gula birth 1820 to 1814. I found one in 1808 and two in 1814, too young to be the groom in 1820; father not Franciszek or Bartlomiej. Although Wojciech is a common name, Bartlomiej is not. Another Wojciech Gula with father Bartlomiej is not likely. Wojciech born Mar 1798 means his age is 22 at the Oct 1820 marriage, not 25 as recorded at marriage. That's not a big deal, because age recorded at marriage is often not close in these records, in my experience.

Bartlomiej Gula. [2] English Bartholomew, Latin Bartholomaeus. My Index [8] has his marriage, as listed above in the Descendancy. His bride Maryanna Kapinos, age 18, has the same name as the bride of Sawa in the Sypek 2 Descendancy; another coincidence like this was bound to happen. His death is not in my Index; hers is. I was not adding fathers' names for all birth records in my Index, so births of his children did not show up. My Index has all data before 1800, so I now used my Index to do a quick study of Gula births before 1800 and found 3 more born to Bartlomiej Gula; all 4 born in house 69 with mother Maryanna Kapinos. My Index has 7 deaths of Bartlomiej's children, only one born before 1800, so there are surely more births in the records after 1799.

Bartlomiej, from age 28 at marriage, has birth year about 1762, before the first records that survive. He perhaps lived in the same house, 69, as my Gula ancestors, but I am not sure; the number 69 might have been used independently in the different villages; village is not indicated in those years. If the house really is the same, Bartlomiej and Franciszek are probably brothers or cousins, so I'm very distantly related to Dave Gula. Death of Bart's wife is in my Index, so I added that data to the Descendancy, to the right on the line for Bartlomiej, with her birth year figured from age at marriage.

Antonia Sypek. [6] Latin Antonina. In Polish this name appears as Antonia and also as Antonina, and I think Antonia is more common. Dave Gula provided two versions of her marriage certificate. The one with Latin names has Antonina. The one with Polish names has Antonia, so I'm going with Antonia here, although I can change this to whatever name she used in her life. I'm not sure of the English version, but I suppose Antonia. This is Dave's grandmother.

Her birth certificate [8] say she was born 28 Dec 1893, meaning age 17 at her 23 May 1911 marriage. Her marriage certificate [8] shows age 23. Maybe she fibbed to make it easier to get married; I think father's written permission was required for brides younger than 18. Her husband Wladyslaw's age 22 seems correct.

Wojciech Sypek. [6] Father of Antonia, named in her marriage and birth certificates. I did not find his marriage (or Banns) record. For more about his marriage, see the discussion for his wife Agnieszka Sowa [15]. For his birth data, see the discussion for his father Marcin [next].

Agnieszka was previously married, as discussed in her topic. Her first husband died 7 Dec 1885, so her marriage to Wojciech Sypek must have been after 1885, beyond the range of the microfilms. I saw a book at the Parish [8] that has marriage records "1876 - 1944"; I took very few notes from that book in 1999; for Sypek my notes just say that I saw Sypek names but I did not recognize the names of the parents of groom / bride. My notes do have Gwozdz marriages in the late 1880's, so their marriage record should be in that book. We don't really need it because their 4 parents are all named in Antonia's birth certificate [8].

Marcin Sypek. [6] English Martin, Latin Martinus. Grandfather of Antonia Sypek. Her birth certificate [8] says Marcin married Maryanna Gula. I found two Marcin Sypek who married a woman named Maryanna Gula, so this started a research project:

Marcin Sypek Research. In this Dave Gula document, I originally called the first one that I found Marcin 1 Sypek 1, but later I changed that to just Marcin Sypek [6]. I call the other one Marcin Sypek 2 [7].

I listed Marcin Sypek 2 as Antonia's grandfather in my 2 May 2016 version of this document, although I no longer consider that correct. My reason for this mis-assignment, discussed in that version: Marcin Sypek 2 was born in Wola Wadowska, the place given for Antonia's birth in her certificate [8]; the house number is close but not a match; Marcin Sypek lived in Wampierzow; I considered that a weak proof in favor of the Sypek 2 family. I did write that I considered the proof weak because the Sypek family could have moved.

I next searched for a Wojciech son to Marcin Sypek 2; I could not find one. I cannot prove the absence of such a son, but my results, discussed in the following paragraphs, seems to indicate that I found a full list of children of Marcin Sypek 2, all girls. I did find a son Wojciech for Marcin Sypek in Wampierzow. Most importantly, I found children for Wojciech Sypek's first wife Agnieszka Sowa [15], by her first husband. The house is Wola Wadowska 121, the same number recorded on Antonia's birth certificate. That first husband died in that same house 121. More about all that, below. It seems reasonable that Agnieszka's second husband Wojciech Sypek would come live in her house where she had children, so Wojciech had good reason to move away from Wampierzow, home of his ancestors. Although Marcin Sypek 2 [7] is not an ancestor, by coincidence his grandparents, Adam [7] & Ewa are ancestors of Dave Gula, because Anna Sypek 2 [7], the daughter of Adam & Ewa, married Wojciech Sowa [5].

A few weeks later in this project, I discovered a third Maryanna Gula, ancestor of Dave Gula. I call that one Maryanna 1 Gula 2 [3].

Wife of Marcin Sypek is Maryanna 2 Gula 2 [3]. Wife of Marcin Sypek 2 is Maryanna Gula 3 [3]. This is the first time I have run into confusion this bad, but I'm not very surprised. Gula and Sypek are common names, so they have multiple individuals about the same age for most common first names. I found more than a half dozen Marcin Sypek about the right age and I'm not sure how many there are because I did not keep track. I noticed two of those other Marcin Sypek married to a Maryanna with two different maiden names, not Gula. I'm not 100% confident I identified the correct Marcin Sypek, but nothing in genealogy is 100% certain. This result is about average confidence.

I did a lot of work on this, because I have very little in my Descendancy for my ancestor Maciej Sypek, so I'm interested in researching other Sypek lines hoping to get lucky and find a clue to mine.

My Index [8] has all microfilm data before 1800. From 1800 to 1860, my Index has all microfilm Gula and Sypek deaths. From 1800 to 1827, my Index has all Gula & Sypek marriages (grooms and brides). My master of my Index has additional data for Gula and Sypek that the on-line version does not have, because of projects that I worked on over the years since I posted the on-line version.

My master copy has the 20 Nov 1843 [6] marriage of Marcin Sypek to Maryanna 2 Gula 2, from a previous Gula project. I found the 5 Nov 1860 [7] marriage of Marcin Sypek 2 to Maryanna Gula 3 as part of this project. Both records are in the Microfilms [8].

A. I searched birth records; I scanned fathers' first name looking for Marcin, then for each I checked Sypek with wife Maryanna Gula, and entered those children births into the Descendancies [6] & [7].

1850 - 1857 (1853 missing) microfilm; Wad & Wamp

1853 & 1858 - 1870 microfilm Wamp only

1860 - 1875 not on microfilm; no Wamp in these, which are a Wad birth record book at the parish rectory [8].

1879 - 1885 not on microfilm; located at the Tarnow archive [8].

The reason for this birth record search is that in those years all 4 grandparents are recorded, so I could determine if there was more than one Marcin Sypek married to Maryanna Gula; identified by their parents; indeed this is where I discovered the 2nd couple.

"Wamp" means Wampierzow, the village that had it's own chapel and separate records in those years. The Marcin Sypek children were born in Wamp.

"Wad" means the rest of the parish; the 1860 + records have a marginal note: Wg for Wadowice Gorne, Wd for Wadowice Dolne, WW for Wola Wadowska. The Marcin Sypek 2 children were born in WW.

B. I searched marriage records; I found the 1860 marriage of Marcin Sypek 2. I searched a wide range of marriage years and found multiple Marcin Sypek but not a third one married to Maryanna Gula.

C. No son Wojciech for Marcin Sypek 2: Check the list of girls born to him [7], between his 1860 marriage and the 1875 birth of Helena. A son Wojciech [previous topic] born 1876 would have been 17 years old at the Dec 1893 birth of his daughter Antonia [6], a possible but not reasonable consideration. I noticed a 27 month gap between Marcin's Nov 1860 marriage and the Feb 1863 birth of his oldest daughter. I double checked the records 1860 to 1862; no child recorded to him and the records are continuous, apparently complete. The children seem evenly spaced at well under 3 years, so I doubt I missed a birth of a son. Although I cannot prove there was no son, this is the strongest evidence that Marcin Sypek 2 is not the father of ancestor Wojciech Sypek.

D. Caveats: I cannot prove there is no 3rd Marcin Sypek who married a different Maryanna Gula. It's reasonably possible. They could have lived in a different parish and moved to Wadowice Gorne parish after their children were all born. Or, maybe they lived in Wadowice Gorne but I missed the birth of their only son Wojciech; after all I scanned fathers' names quickly so I may have missed him. Or, maybe their son's birth record is missing for some reason; I'm sure that happens because I do have experience with people whose birth record is just not in the microfilms in a range of years where it should be. All these possibilities are reasonable, but such reasonable caveats are possible for most identifications of an ancestor. The identification of Marcin Sypek [6] as the father of Wojciech and grandfather of Antonia [6] seems about as good as a typical identification in this document.

E. Mother of Marcin: His mother is clearly named at his 1822 birth - Maryanna Czerwony [12]; her father is also named - Sebastjan Czerwony [12]. The same mother and grandmother are named at the 1820 birth of Apolonia, Marcin's sister.

However, there is confusion at the records of births of Marcin's children, regarding the paternal grandmother. In the Descendancy [6], I added the recorded name of the paternal grandmother in [brackets]. The confusion seems to be caused by the fact that Marcin's mother died 27 Nov 1823 [2] when he was 13 months old, and his father remarried 2 months later to Apolonia Piksa [5]. It seems natural that 20 to 40 years later, at the birth of Marcin's children, their paternal grandmother would usually be recorded as Apolonia Piksa. No doubt she acted as his mother all his life after 13 months. Perhaps officially adopted him. I was confused, also; in early versions of this document I listed Apolonia Piksa as an ancestor of Dave Gula; I left the Piksa Descendancy and Notes in this document although those are not genetic ancestors after all. I suppose you could say the Piksa ancestors are genealogy ancestors of Dave, since Apolonia served as the mother of Marcin.

Apolonia died 1846, 15 months before Marcin's first child was born, where "Apolonia Pixa" is written. In 1853 and 1859, however, she is recorded as Apolonia Kuza and Apolonia Gula, so apparently the witnesses (godparents) might have been confused when they gave the information to the priest for writing down.

I did not find "Maryanna Czerwonka" used, the name of the genetic grandmother, but in 1850 "Maryanna N" is used; "N" means not known; it seems like the witnesses providing the information remembered there was a first wife named Maryanna but did not remember the family name.

I am not sure of my explanation. It might not be a witness problem for all I know. I have seen this problem with grandparents often before. Perhaps the priest sometimes copied from scribbled notes that he could not read. Maybe the priest sometimes added names from his own personal knowledge of the people, when he wrote the records later, in the evening. This paragraph is speculation.

Birth of Jan Sypek should be 1792 per his age at marriage, within the range of my Index, which has all births 1777 to 1799. My Index has only one Jan Sypek birth, 1796, close enough from my experience regarding accuracy of age at marriage. Not Wampierzow. It seems odd that there is only one Jan Sypek in my Index, with Jan the 2nd most common male name after Jozef. I double checked the 1790's Wamp births in the microfilms - no other Jan Sypek. The data seems complete; no obvious gaps. It seems we should accept the 1796 birth as a reasonable match - although not at confidently as some other ancestor matches in this genealogy document. This 1796 birth of Jan Sypek, father Sebastjan, mother Anna Robak, is not a very strong link in my chain of male Sypek identifications as ancestors of Antonia, as presented here in these Notes topics.

The village of Jan's birth is not recorded - it could be Gorne or Dolne or Wola. Notice that Jan married in Wamp. It looks like he moved to the village of his bride, just as it seems his great grandson Wojciech moved to Wola Wadowska, the village of his bride.

Sebastjan Sypek. [6] English Sebastian, Latin Sebastianus. Father of Marcin. Polish "i" is pronounced "ee" in English, so Polish "j" pronounced like English "y" makes "Sebastjan" close to English. We finally got lucky and scored a match. This Sebastjan is the patriarch of "Sypek D", a short descendancy that I made years ago. No match to my family. Just a line that I studied hoping to find a match to my Sypek ancestors. Sebastjan married twice and I found 11 children for him, including this Jan by his 2nd wife Robak. I copied it all into this Descendancy for Sebastjan [6].

In case you check, there is an issue in the microfilm just before this Sypek - Robak marriage: The year is not indicated on that page. The page before is 1793. The page after is 1795. I figure this book is a copy, and I figure the scribe made a mistake. I figure the scribe turned two pages at once in the original, missing two facing pages in the data. That page has 3 marriages at the top half, Nov 17, and 3 marriages at the bottom half, Nov 23. Most marriages were on Sunday (check Google). We expect Nov 17 + 7 days = Nov 24, not 23. I figure 1793 Nov 17 was Sunday, and 1794 Nov 23 was Sunday, with exactly one year of data missing in the middle of that page. I spent a lot of time on this issue, because my ancestor's marriage should be there, but it is missing. This is the only time I have seen this issue - 2 pages of data not copied - but then again I found this because I was trying to figure out why my ancestor's marriage record is missing. It should be a very rare error, because the scribe would notice it if the data jumps from one month to another; a Nov to Nov jump was not noticed. Anyway, Sebastjan's first wife died 17 Jun 1794, so he could not have married Nov 1793. It's interesting that according to my explanation, he married again 23 Nov 1794, just 5 months after his first wife passed. My copy of this page in my file has red pen notes, including "1st wife died Jun 1794" with an arrow pointing to Sebastjan, but I wrote that years ago, not this year.

Sebastjan's birth year 1754 is from his age 40 at his 1794 second marriage.

His first marriage is not in the microfilms, which start 1777. His first child in the records was born 1780. His first wife is Petronela Borowa (Borowcowna as written with inflection), but no name like Borowa is in my name Index, which I made using birth, death, and groom names. I wonder if Sebastjan married in another parish, or perhaps moved before 1780 to Wadowice Gorne parish.

Szymon Sypek 2. [7] English Simon, Latin Simonis. Father of Marcin Sypek 2. The other Sypek line. Szymon matches my “Sypek G” short descendency that I made years ago. No match to my family. I copied his father Adam and family into this Descendency.

Agnieszka Mazgaj. [4] English Agnes, Latin Agnetis. Wife of Wojciech 2 Gula [9] and mother of Wladyslaw Gula, in whose birth certificate [8] she is named along with her parents. I found her birth record 1857 with parents and grandparents named. There is an issue with her father’s name, discussed in the following topic for Wojciech Mazgaj.

My Index [8] has only 5 Mazgaj records 1777 - 1799 complete. So this is a small family. There is only one more Mazgaj record in my Index, a marriage in 1816 to Maryanna Gula. (Yes! Another Maryanna Gula!) That record is there because I did a Gula study years ago. The 1816 groom is Jakub, son of Jan Mazgaj. It seems Agnieszka’s father is Jan 2 Mazgaj, her grandfather is Jakub Mazgaj, and her great grandfather is Jan 1 Mazgaj.

My Index uses the spelling Mazgaj because that was used in those records up to 1816. Agnieszka’s family clearly used the spelling Mazgaj because that was what I saw in the 1800’s records. Polish “y” and “j” are both pronounced like the English “y”, so pronunciation is the same. My earlier versions of this document used Mazgay; I changed it to Mazgaj for the family after about 1840. When I enter these into my Index, I’ll use Mazgaj for all, so there is only one spelling for ease of computer searching.

Wojciech Mazgaj. Agnieszka’s father is written as Adalberti (Wojciech) Mazgaj on her birth certificate [8]. It seems to be wrong; her father should be Joannes (Jan) Mazgaj. Jan is the name used for her father as recorded in the Banns record for her 1877 marriage to Wojciech 2 Gula [9]. Jan is the name used for her father in her 1857 birth record. Jan is the name used for her brother’s 1851 birth. All 3 records name Maryanna Miga as the wife of Jan Mazgaj. Agnieszka is recorded as age 19 in the 1877 Banns; her birth record 18 July 1857 means she turned 20 in July 1777, although the Banns record might have been entered before July; in any case the age checks within a year. I did not notice anyone named Adalbertus Mazgaj in records; I stopped at every Mazgaj or Mazgay I spotted because this name is rare; I did not spot any other different Adalbertus or Agnetis Mazgaj. I searched carefully 1821 to 1823, and 1835 to 1849, reading father’s family names, looking for the birth of Jan 2 Mazgaj and simultaneously looking for others. I found Jan son of Jakub Mazgaj in 1821, but I found only 2 more Mazgay father in all those 3 years - children of Jakub Mazgaj, discussed below. It’s not reasonable to worry that maybe there was a Wojciech Mazgaj in the parish married to a different Maryanna Miga, with a different Agnieszka daughter. Another parish is a possibility, discussed below under Jan 1 Mazgaj.

Jan 2 Mazgaj. [4] Father of Agnieszka. I found his Jan 1845 marriage record, wife Maryanna Miga, same as on the records discussed in the previous two topics. In 1845 his parents are Jakub Mazgaj & Maryanna Gula, his wife’s parents are Tomasz Miga & Dorota Robak. I found his Jun 1821 birth where his parents are recorded as Jakub Mazgaj & Maryanna - her father Jakub Gula. Only mother’s father was usually recorded in the early 1820’s.

Jakub Mazgaj. [4] English Jacob, Latin Jacobus. Father of Jan 2. His 1816 marriage record is in my Index [8]; I double checked the record; his father is listed as Jan Mazgaj; his wife is Maryanna daughter of Jakub Gula; mothers not named. During this project, in the microfilm, I noticed 2 children born to Jakub Mazgaj 1830 & 1834, with his father not named, and his wife Maryanna’s father with 2 different names - Tomasz Zajac & Jan Gula. It’s hard to believe there were 3 different Jakub Mazgaj married to 3 different Maryanna, when there are very few Mazgaj records in the books.

Maryanna, age 29, has the widow column checked. Usually the first husband is named, but the abbreviation “na” is used in 1845 to clearly indicate father, not recent husband. Maybe there is confusion between her father and her previous husband, which pertains to the confusion mentioned in the previous paragraph.

Another problem: Jakub’s age is recorded as 36 at that Nov 1816 wedding, meaning birth 1780. I have no such birth in my Index, which is complete 1777 - 1799. I’m figuring his father as Jan 1, who married Anna Turski in 1782; my Index has no birth to an unmarried Mazgaj or Turski. Age at marriage can be off several years, but the birth is still expected in my Index. More discussion about this in the next topic.

Jan 1 Mazgaj. [4] Father of Jakub, I suppose. His 1782 marriage is in my Index [8]. 1777 to 1783 the priest wrote a lot of information into the records. Here is what it says: “Laboriosus Juvenis Joannes Adalberti Mazgaj filius Molitoris de Zgorsko cum Virgine Anna Stanislai Tuxski Campanotoris Vadovicey filia legitima.” Translated: “Jan Mazgaj, a laborer and bachelor, son of Wojciech, a builder from Zgorsko, with bachelorette Anna, legitimate daughter of Stanislaw Turski, the Campanator of Wadowice.” Actually. my Latin dictionary for molitoris gives: builder, contriver, schemer; I suppose it means builder here. I do not know what “Campanator” means; I suppose it might be some kind of city official or military officer or church official.

It seems the Mazgaj family might have lived in Zgorsko, which is the parish just south of Wadowice Gorne. That might explain why the name Mazgaj is rare in Wadowice Gorne. I have seen the microfilms from Zgorsko - they are just as good as from Wadowice Gorne - those films might have more Mazgaj names. Perhaps Jan married in Wadowice Gorne then had children both in Wadowice and in Zgorsko; that might explain his son Jakub's birth not being in my Index. Someone should check the Zgorsko microfilms for the birth of Jakub, perhaps shortly after 1782.

Jan 1 Mazgay appears twice as a father in my Index, as listed in the Descendancy. Anna Turski appears as the mother at the 1794 birth of Teresa. Deaths do not usually mention the mother, so only Jan Mazgay is named at the 1795 death of Katarzyna, age 3, whose birth about 1792 is not in the Index.

I have only 2 more Mazgay records in my Index, the illegitimate birth of Anna 24 Dec 1798 and her death 30 Dec 1798, her mother is Anna, who might be related to Jan 1. I did not check for more births to a father Jan 1 Mazgay in the very early 1800's.

Unfortunately, those marriage records around 1782, with all that information, do not give age of groom & bride, so we don't know the birth years for Jan 1 or for his bride Anna Turski. Surely they were born before the oldest birth records, 1777.

Wojciech Mazgay [4] is the father of Jan 1 Mazgay, as named in that 1782 marriage record. This is not very high confidence, because of the issues discussed above. Notice that I used his 1782 spelling of the name, with a y, which distinguishes him from Wojciech Mazgaj [13], the name written (probable error) on Wladyslaw's birth certificate [8].

Anna Turski. [7] Wife of Jan 1 Mazgay [above], as named in that 1782 marriage record and in that 1794 birth.

Stanislaw Turski. [7] English Stanley or Stanislaus, Latin Stanislaus. Father of Anna. In the 1782 Jan 1 Mazgay marriage, his name is spelled "Tuxski" with a definite "x", which is unusual in Polish. The records are in Latin, which uses "x", but family names are in Polish. My Index has 10 records with the name spelled "Turski" over the span 1777 to 1799, which is a relatively small family. Most if not all of these records seem to be the family of this man, Stanislaw, as entered in the Descendancy, and discussed in the following paragraphs.

Stanislaw is mentioned as Campanator in 5 of the 10 records, one of those is just "campa Wad". In a 6th he has a scribbled title that looks Polish and seems like "Dzuanik Wad", which might be a Polish equivalent word. In a 7th, a title is very badly scribbled, looks like "Saerzrce Eiche" but that's just a guess. Two have no title, in 1788 & 1794, years where most entries have no title. One of the 10 does not have his name - 1787 marriage of Maryanna [7] without father named - I put her in the Descendancy as a daughter just so we can keep track of all these earliest Turski in case anyone tries to match them with records after 1799, which I did not search for.

That - in the Descendancy means remarriage. It's hard to believe Stanislaw married 4 times, the last 3 in just under 8 years. Those last 3 marriages are in the Index with Stanislaw recorded as a widower, so there must be at least one earlier marriage not in the Index; let's assume just one - the 1st. Also, daughter Anna married to Mazgay in 1782 - the same year as Stanislaw's 3rd marriage, which was just 4 years after his 2nd in 1778, So Anna must be a daughter from his first marriage, which surely was many years before the oldest records, 1777.

Another possibility is that Stanislaw had a son named Stanislaw and they both held the office Campanator. All 3 marriages indicate that Stanislaw was a widower but do not name his previous wife. So a 2nd Stanislaw actually adds complication, not simplification, so I did not use this possibility in the Descendancy.

Only the last 1785 marriage has age - 60 - his birth about 1725. His bride is Katarzyna Czerwony age 30, and I have 4 children listed for them, the last born 1798 when Stanislaw would have been 73 and Katarzyna 43, if the data is taken at face value. I don't believe it; age of old people is often exaggerated in the records; I guessed 1730 for his birth date in the Descendancy.

Deaths of his wives is not in my Index, which is complete 1777 - 1799, and which was double checked years ago. Wives are usually recorded at death with married name, but I also checked maiden names. We don't know the maiden name of his first wife, distant ancestor of Dave Gula. Wesowa & Gumienska, names of his 2nd & 3rd wives, are names not in my Index, other than those 2 single entries for each of their marriages to Stanislaw; they may have lived in another parish; maybe their funeral was there; I don't know about these situations, but I have lots of experience with death records not being where I expect them. The 4th wife, Czerwonka, is a fairly common family name, with many entries in my Index.

The house number 31 is recorded for 6 of the 10 Turski records: all 3 records of Stanislaw's marriages, the marriage of his daughter Anna to Mazgay, and the two earliest births.

Stanislaw Turski must have been important, because at that 1782 marriage of his daughter to Jan 1 Mazgay, the two witnesses also have fancy titles: one is "artis Sutoris", whatever that means, and the other is "Pannifex de Mielec" where Mielec is the closest city, about 10 miles east. It makes sense that a big shot would insist on inviting his peers to be witnesses at his daughter's wedding. Most of the titles for witnesses on those pages are listed as laborers or peasant farmers.

At Stanislaw's 1782 marriage, his bride Agata has a long title, and Stanislaw is "Henstus Campanator Ecclesiae Vadowiceae" where "Ecclesiae" sounds like maybe his office is some kind of church functionary. Just guessing.

Agnieszka Sowa. [5] Mother of Antonia Sypek. Birth 17 Dec 1849 is recorded in the Banns for her 1st marriage, discussed in the next topic. I am confident of the names of her parents because I found records of her children by her first marriage to Jozef Sroka, see Descendancy, where both her parents are named consistently in those birth records. I found the Dec 1885 death of her first husband. She must have married Wojciech Sypek [10] after 1885. According to my notes from visits, the Parish [8] has a marriage record book 1876+, and the civil USC has one 1886+ but these are not available on microfilm. We don't really need a record of her marriage to Sypek because it is attested in Antonia's birth record [8].

Jedrzej Sowa. [5] Father of Agnieszka Sowa. Maternal grandfather of Antonia Sypek. He is not named on her birth certificate, because her mother Agnieszka is listed as the widow of Jozef Sroka. I found Agnieszka's first marriage Banns, where her parents are named. Jedrzej is a variation of the name Andrzej (Andrew). I did not know this. The Banns are the only record books with given names in Polish. All other record books have given name (first name) in Latin (Andrew is Andreas), with Polish given names rarely used. In searching for his given name, I found only one "Jezdonis", not Sowa. After a week I finally searched for Sowa, a rare name in the parish, and found the birth of one of his grandchildren, with his name Andreas. In the Polish Wikipedia on-line, I verified that Jedrzej is a variation of Andrzej. My log used "Jedzej" without the "r", which is another form I have seen. I don't edit my log, but I changed "Jedzej" to "Jedrzej" in the rest of this document, because apparently that's the form he used in 1867. I searched the 1867 Banns and found 3 more "Jedrzej" and only one "Andrzej". My on-line list of family names for Wadowice Gorne Parish lists "Sowa" as a variant of "Sawa", because in my data based on the 1700's Sawa was used more often than Sowa for apparently the same family. For ease in Excel filters and sorts, I use standard spelling in my on-line Index [8], where the name is always Sawa; maybe in the future I'll change it to Sowa, which is the spelling I found in records from the 1850's for Dave's ancestors. When I noticed that this family always used Sowa I changed this document from Sawa to Sowa, except I left Sawa in the Log. I did notice Sawa occasionally during this research; indeed the 1885 death of Jozef Sroka names his wife as Agnieszka Sawa, although in their children's birth records she is always Sowa.

Wojciech Sowa. [5] Father of Jedrzej. He married 1810, where his age 38 implies birth 1772. In my Index [8], only Walenty Sawa and Jan Sawa show up having children 1777 to 1799; only 5 births total; perhaps they are brothers of his; my Index has no clue to Wojciech's father's name.

Maryanna Pietras. [4] Wife of Wawrzyniec Gula [2]. Pietras is the most common name [9] in the Wadowice Gorne records. I did not specifically take the effort to research this family line for this project. I noticed many Pietras entries, of course, while researching the family lines of interest to me. However, I learned early in this project that Maryanna's father's name was Tomasz [next topic], so I quickly checked most Pietras entries that I noticed for the name Tomasz and I wrote those down on scrap paper that I kept handy. There might be two or more different men in the parish named Tomasz Pietras, perhaps with daughter named Maryanna; I don't know.

Tomasz Pietras. [4] English Thomas, Latin Thomas. Father of Maryanna Pietras, who married Wawrzyniec Gula 8 Feb 1847; the marriage record is discussed in the Wawrzyniec Gula topic [9]. Let me repeat: The Wladyslaw Gula birth certificate [8] names his paternal grandparents as Wawrzyniec Gula and Maryanna Pietras. The 1847 marriage record of Wawrzyniec Gula & Maryanna Pietras names her parents: Tomasz Pietras & Apolonia Ogorzalek. It is quite unlikely that there is more than one Wawrzyniec Gula who married Maryanna Pietras, because I probably would have noticed it during the research that I did for the Gula line in this project. It is however possible that there was more than one Tomasz Pietras who married Apolonia Ogorzalek; I don't know.

I noticed only one daughter named Maryanna born to Tomasz Pietras and Apolonia Ogorzalek. Someone else might check carefully to rule out another such combination - not highly likely but worth considering.

My Index [8] has the 1826 marriage of Tomasz Pietras to Apolonia Ogorzalek, because I entered lots of Ogorzalek data from the early 1800's, when I did an Ogorzalek study years ago, because my tree has two Ogorzalek family lines. However, I stopped that Ogorzalek search at 1827, so there is still the issue of another pair with these names.

My Index has 3 Apolonia Ogorzalek marriages and one Apolonia husband's death; that 1826 marriage is the only Pietras husband, the only Tomasz. 1826 does not have all parents' names, but Apolonia's father Wojciech is named. Groom age 22, bride age 20.

From previous projects I have several Ogorzalek descendancies, only a few Pietras; this pair is not in any of them.

I spotted two births where Tomasz Pietras is listed as a grandfather:

	Child	Father	Mother
1856	Apolonia	Marcin ex Thomas et Apolonia Ogorzalek	Catharina ex Thoma Miga et Dorothea Robak
1857	Wawrzyniec	Martinus ex Thoma Pietras et Apollonia Ogorzalek	Catharina ex Thoma Miga et Dorothea Robak

These names fit for a brother of Maryanna Pietras, as entered in the Descendancy. I spotted his 1852 marriage record, where his parents are named as Tomasz Pietras & Apolonia Ogorzalek.

I found 3 births to Tomasz Pietras & Apolonia Ogorzalek, in the 1830's, when the records start to include grandparent names:

	Child	Father	Mother
1832	Mathias	Thomas Pietras	Apolonia Adalberti Ogorzaly
1833	Andreas	Thomas Pietras filius Jacobi	Apolonia Adalberti et Catharinae Ogorzalek
1838	Joannes	Thomas Jacobi et Anna Pietras	Victoria Josephi et Catharinae Midura

I'll assume that last one is a 2nd wife of Tomasz (Wiktorina Midura), and that Anna (no family name) is mother of Tomasz Pietras. However that last one might be a different Tomasz Pietras who also has a father named Jakub. Someone can improve the confidence by finding more records from the microfilms [8] for this family.

Jakub Pietras. [4] Father of Tomasz. I have only a few Pietras Descendancies that I worked out over the years, but none with Jakub or Tomasz.. My Index [8] has 12 Jakub Pietras records, all before 1800, because I entered all data before 1800, but I entered Pietras after 1799 only for those marrying into my family. I'm not very confident Jakub Pietras & Anna are correct as ancestors of Dave Gula because I did not search the records to rule out duplication coincidences. Each generation is probably correct, but uncertainty accumulates over the generations. Someone can study the microfilms and verify all this, and perhaps identify the names for the previous generation - parents of Jakub & Anna.

Maryanna Miga. [4] Wife of Jan 2 Mazgaj [4]. Her parents Tomasz Miga & Dorota Robak . Her parents are named in her marriage record and in the birth records that I found for her children listed in the Mazgaj Descendancy. I did not research this Miga line.

Maryanna 2 Gula 2. [3] Wife of Marcin Sypek [6] and grandmother of Antonia Sypek [6]. I spent a lot of time on Marcin Sypek because of the confusion of two different Maryanna Gula, as discussed in the Marcin Sypek topic [10]. Let me repeat: Maryanna 2 Gula 2 married him in 1843; the marriage record gives the full names of both their parents, all 4 of them. Marcin Sypek's parents are discussed in his topic [6]. Maryanna's parents are Jozef Gula 2 [next topic] and Maryanna Stachowicz [next topic]. In the birth records of their children, 3 of their 4 parents (as grandparents) are consistently named the same. The paternal grandmother (Pixa) is not consistently named; I discuss that in the topic about Marcin's mother [12].

Jozef 1 Gula 2. [3] Father of Maryanna 2 Gula 2, named in the records of his daughter Maryanna 2 [previous topic]. His wife Maryanna Stachowicz [5] is also named. In looking for Maryanna's birth, I was looking at first in the wrong years, so I accumulated records for her 3 sisters. All 4 girls were born in Wamp, house 43. Only maternal grandfather is usually named before 1833, in this case Jozef Stachowicz [5], all 4 records. Also, in 1857, I luckily noticed a birth of their grandson Piotr Gula 2, where again the paternal grandparents were consistently named as "Josephi Gula & Mariannae Stachowicz". So, although Maryanna Gula is a common name, it seems clear the one who married Marcin Sypek is the daughter of this couple.

Unfortunately, Jozef Gula 2 & Maryanna Stachowicz married in the time frame when parents were not named in the marriage records; grandparents are not named in births. Age 21 is recorded for both bride & groom at the Oct 1803 marriage, implying birth 1782, although I don't find such calculations to be exact. My Index [8] has Jozef Gula births 1783, 1785, 1788, 1789 - all in March. Those last 2 seem very unlikely because a groom born 1788 would be only 15 in 1803. The birth data starts 1777; a groom born late in 1776 would be 25 in 1803; it's unlikely a 25 year old groom would be recorded as 21, but not out of the range of reasonable possibility.

The 1785 birth, age 18 in 1803, is possible. This is very attractive to me because the father is Franciszek Gula [10] my ancestor, discussed earlier in this document [10].

The 1783 birth, age 20 and 7 months at the 1803 marriage, seems most likely to be the correct one, although not with particularly high confidence.

The house number at the 1783 birth is 88, not Wampierzow, where Jozef Gula 2 married and had children. None of those 4 births has a Wamp house; the first Wamp birth of a Jozef Gula in my Index is 1890.

That 1783 birth is to a Gula line for which I worked out a Descendancy in my Gula project some years ago. By coincidence, I called it Gula 2; I worked out 14 Gula lines in that project, and there are still plenty of Gula records not matched together. He is Jozef 1 because Jozef 2 is that 1788 Jozef, born to Jozef 1's oldest brother.

I copied the Gula 2 Descendancy into this document. I am not very certain about this line for the reasons of the previous paragraphs.

Jakub 1 Gula 2. [3] Father of Jozef 1. Not very certain for the same reasons as the previous topic. More uncertainty in the following analysis:

My Index [8] has three Jakub Gula marriages before 1820:

Assignment	Date	Status	Age	House	Wife
------------	------	--------	-----	-------	------

Jakub 2 Gula 2	1778	Aug	9	bachelor	-	88	Jadwiga Padykula [4]
Jakub 1 Gula 2	1780	Jan	24	widower	-	88	Franciszka Morytko [4]
Jakub 3 Gula 2	1800	Nov	16	bachelor	20	87	Anna Midura

My Index, which has all Gula deaths before 1860, has only two Jakub Gula before 1856:

Assignment	Date			Age at death	Calculated Birth Year
Jakub 1 Gula 2	1794	May	9	80	1714
Jakub 2 Gula 2	1812	Apr	29	65	1747

Births in house 88 are listed in the Gula 2 Descendancy [3]; the two wives are named in the birth records. Notice that the range of birth dates overlap, so there are two Jakub Gula men having children in the same house at the same time; wives Padykula & Morytko.

At the 1778 marriage, the father of the groom is also named as Jakub, so in my previous Gula project, I assigned Jakub 1 to the older one and Jakub 2 to the younger. I put them in the same family, Gula 2, because these are the only Jozef Gula in the oldest records, and because all the births are in house 88. I assumed the older one having children to be the father of the younger one. The alternative would be that there was yet a third Jakub Gula, like a nephew or cousin - possible but not likely. Ages are not listed in the marriages. Death records start in 1787, so death record of the previous wife is not available.

Death ages of old people are often exaggerated. If Jakub 1 was really 80 at death, that would mean about 65 at 2nd marriage, about 74 at the 1788 birth of his youngest, Katarzyna 1.

At the 1780 marriage, Franciszka's father is named as Sebastjan Morytko [4].

Although the evidence here is not high confidence that Jakub 1 Gula 2 is an ancestor, there is independent evidence that he is an ancestor in another line, next topics, where Jakub 2 Gula 2 also seems to be an ancestor:

Maryanna 1 Gula 2. [3] I think of Maryanna 1 Gula 2 as the third Maryanna Gula of this project, because I became aware of her a few weeks after I studied the other two Maryanna Gula records [10].

Reminder: Maryanna 2 Gula 2 [3] married Marcin Sypek; this couple are grandparents of Antonia Sypek [6]. At first, I called her Maryanna Gula 2 because her family is the second Gula family in this project, not connected to Dave Gula's male line. Later, I connected her to a Gula descendancy that I have from my previous Gula studies [8], which by coincidence I had previously named Gula 2. She is Maryanna 2 because she is the second Maryanna Gula 2 from that previous study.

Reminder: Maryanna Gula 3 [3] is a different person, who married a different person named Marcin Sypek 2 [7]; this couple are not ancestors in this project.

I spent a lot of time on the first two Maryanna Gula, so I followed that with some time figuring out this third one.

This third one, Maryanna 1 Gula 2, just happens to be in the same family that I have been calling Gula 2; where this is the one I had previously named Maryanna 1. By coincidence, this third one is also an ancestor, but on Dave's Gula side, not Dave's Sypek side. This one is a great grandmother of Wladyslaw Gula. If you look on the pedigree chart, you notice two entries named Jakub 1 Gula 2; this man is the grandfather of both Maryanna 1 Gula 2 and Maryanna 2 Gula 2; he married twice so the two Maryannas are "half cousins", not full first cousins; they have different grandmothers. Maryanna 2 was born 19 years after Maryanna 1; Maryanna 2's line has one less generation in Dave Gula's Pedigree chart; that means Wladyslaw & Antonia were "once removed". Wladyslaw Gula and Antonia Sypek are "3rd half cousins once removed", which is the genetic equivalent of 4th cousins. I doubt Wladyslaw and Antonia were aware that they were related through another Gula family line, because they were married in the USA; it seems to me they would have needed to talk at length to several old grandmothers in Poland to determine their relationship. Or go to the parish rectory and study the records for a few weeks - like I did using the microfilms and my previous studies.

All this is not fully certain. All genealogies have a little uncertainty. I try to point out the uncertainties in these Notes. This relationship of Wladyslaw & Antonia follows the usual "most probable" analysis of records for genealogy. It's not proven beyond a reasonable doubt, but it seems a lot more likely correct than not.

Jakub 2 Gula 2. [3] Father of Maryanna 1. As mentioned in the previous topics, there are only 3 Jakub Gula individuals in the records before 1820, and they all have records from house 88, so it seems they are related as father, son, grandson. Jakub is named as father of Maryanna in her 1816 marriage [4] to Jakub Mazgaj. Jakub and Maryanna Gula are named as parents in the 1821 birth of ancestor Jan 2 Mazgaj. They are named again as grandparents in that Mazgaj family. Maryanna was a widow age 29 at her Nov 1816 marriage to Mazgaj, implying birth 1787. My previous study already had her previous marriage Oct 1805, where she was not previously married, age 18, again implying birth 1787. I searched and found two children in that previous marriage, and the death of the first husband, Wawrzyniec Zaiac [7], 13 months before her 2nd marriage. The birth record for Maryanna 1 Gula 2 is 1782, 5 years before 1787. In my experience, bride ages are often recorded as younger than their true age, but 5 years is a bit much for an 18 year old, establishing some doubt. Jakub's wife is not named in those records, and grandparents are not named in those birth records in that time frame. However, there is only one Maryanna born to Jakub Gula in my Index [8]. Jakub 3, born 1780, is too young. Jakub 1 has a possible gap in child ages in late 1786 or early 1787; I double checked those years; nothing. An unrelated Jakub Gula seems unlikely because of that house number 88 in the records. I suppose there is a possibility of Jakub 4 in the family, perhaps a cousin. I'm listing Jakub 2 as the father of Maryanna 1 because it follows the weight of the evidence. The wife of Jakub 2, recorded as mother of their children, is Jadwiga Padykula. The father of Jakub 2, is Jakub 1 Gula 2, [discussed above].

Apolonia Piksa. [5] First wife of Jan Sypek [6]. She is not an ancestor, as discussed in the topic about the mother [12] of Marcin.

She was born 1797 according to the age written at marriage, but she is not in my Index, which has 12 Piksa births in the parish 1777 to 1799. I was lucky while checking Maryanna 1 Gula 2's records and found Apolonia Piksa born 1800, the first year not fully covered by my Index.

The name is written Piksa or Pixa in the records, but I'll stick with Piksa as a standard, since x is very rarely used in Polish.

Kapinos. This family name is quite common in the parish [9]. It appears 3 times for an ancestor in this document: Maryanna Kapinos [2] born about 1770 wife of Bartłomiej Gula; Lucja Kapinos 3 [2] born about 1770 wife of Sebastjan Czerwony; and Maryanna Kapinos 2 [3] born 1823 wife of Jędrzej Sowa. Those first 2 were born before the records start, so I did not try very hard to see if these 3 Kapinos are related to each other.

Maryanna Kapinos 2. [3] Wife of Jędrzej Sowa [15]. As explained in the Jędrzej Sowa topic, he and Maryanna are grandparents of Antonia Sypek [6], but this grandparent pair is not named on the birth certificate [8] because Agnieszka Sowa [15] is named on the certificate as a widow of Józef Sroka [15]. As explained in Agnieszka's topic, I located the records of 7 of her children [5] by her first marriage; her parents (grandparents at birth) are named as Jędrzej Sowa and Maryanna Kapinos. Maryanna Kapinos is a common name in the parish records, but Sroka and Sowa are not common. I found Agnieszka's 1867 marriage record [5] to Sroka, where again her parents are named as Jędrzej Sowa & Maryanna Kapinos. I found 2 birth records for Agnieszka's children by Sroka; the maternal grandparents are named as Wojciech Kapinos 2 [3] and Teresa Padykula 2 [4], for the previous generation. "Teresa" is lucky here, because there are several Wojciech Kapinos men, but Teresa is not a very common name; I did not notice another Teresa Padykula. While researching other families birth records in the 1850's, I noticed several grandchildren [3] of Wojciech and Teresa, and the grandparents are almost always named correctly, providing confidence.

I had difficulty finding the birth record for Maryanna Kapinos. While searching I noticed records for her siblings, so I entered all that information into the Descendancy [3]. Difficulty: Her marriage record implies birth year 1802, and the records are from Wamp, so I was looking there. Only when I searched Wamp from 1812 to 1825 did I try the Wad records and found her birth in 1823 [2]; this seems like the right record because her parents are named correctly. It seems her parents moved away from Wamp for a short time, or perhaps were staying awhile with others.

At her birth record, and at the births of her siblings, her Teresa's grandfather is named as Szymon Padykula 2 [4].

While searching the birth records, I noticed in the same time frame multiple fathers named Wojciech Kapinos, married to 6 different wives (mother in the record); none of them is named Teresa; none of them is named Padykula; 5 of those couples have records in Wamp.

I don't have a name for the previous generation, a parent of Wojciech Kapinos 2. If you want to search for this, here is what I recommend: Search the birth records in the 1830's, when paternal grandparents are sometimes named, more often toward the late 1830's. You might get lucky and find his parents. If not, make a list of parents of all Wojciech Kapinos, to eliminate some of the Wojciech Kapinos birth records. Check the death records to see who died young. The goal is to eliminate all but one birth record from my index:

Kapinos	Wojciech	birth		1790	4	11
Kapinos	Wojciech	birth	Wamp	1790	4	13
Kapinos	Wojciech	birth	Wamp	1793	2	24
Kapinos	Wojciech	birth	Wamp	1796	4	7

The best bet is Wamp 1790, parents Józef & Maryanna Roy, but probability is less than 50%.

Column 4. Maryanna Kapinos 2 is the bottom name in the 4th column of the Pedigree Chart on page 1 of this document. The top name in the column 4 is Wawrzyniec Gula. The 8 names in that column are Eugene Gula's 8 great grandparents from Wadowice Gorne. (Everyone has 8 great grandparents - parents of their grandparents.) All 8 of these are discussed as topics in this Notes section.

Column 3. There are 16 names in this column, Eugene Gula's 16 great-great grandparents. Top one is Wojciech 1 Gula. Some but not all of these have discussion topics. I did not fully research those without discussion topics, but I found records for them in the microfilms. It is possible I made a mistake in the ones without discussion, so if you have interest you might check the microfilms and fix my mistakes, if any.

All the names in the Pedigree Chart have [hot links] to the Descendancy, where those names land in the same column. Those with discussion topics in these Notes have [hot links] next to their name. You can click on the [hot links] to find discussions. Or use the Word Bookmark list; the bookmarks starting with "D" go to the Descendancy; those without "D" go to the Notes discussions.

Column 2. Column 2 is the default margin for this document. There are 23 names in this column on page 1, Eugene Gula's 3-great grandparents. There should be 32; 9 are missing (2 Jun 2016 version). It is possible these 9 have microfilm records; I did not make the effort to find them all. Some of them, for example the parents of Wojciech Kapinos 2, I know would be tedious to research because of the multiple individuals named Wojciech Kapinos. Others of these 9 missing names might be easy to find in the microfilms. Again, I'm am reasonably confident of those names that have Notes, and not as confident of those without Notes.

Column 1. Column 1 is offset left of the margin. There are 5 names in this column on page 1, Eugene Gula's 4-great grandparents. There should be 64. I'm sure the microfilms do not have all 64 names, but I think if someone made the effort to study the microfilms, more names could be added beyond those 5.

Jakub 1 Gula 2 in column 1 is a duplicate; the same name appears in column 2, because he is the father of one ancestor and also the grandfather of a different ancestor, as discussed in the topic for Maryanna 2 Gula 2 [17].

Stanislaw Turski is in Column 1; he could be added again, as father of Maryanna Turski, because he might be the father of two different ancestors. In this case, I chose not to list him twice, because the evidence is very sparse, as discussed in his topic [14].

Family name lines. Dave Gula's genealogy is by far the largest I have done for Wadowice Gorne parish. The Pedigree Chart on page 1 has 26 family name lines (2 Jun 2016 version). That would be 24 lines if the duplicate Jakub 1 Gula 2 and the duplicate Turski lines are considered the same.

Actually, it should be less than 24, because the 5 instances of the same family name: Gula and Gula 2 lines might have a common ancestor; Robak and Robak 2 lines might have a common ancestor; Kapinos and Kapinos 2 and Kapinos 3 lines might have a common ancestor; Sypek and Sypek 2 lines might have a common ancestor; Padykula and Padykula 2 lines might have a common ancestor. I doubt a common family name necessarily means common ancestry, because surely when families were picking names sometimes the same name must have been chosen independently by different family lines. But I have no idea how common that was - how many of these 5 instances might be independent. For those that do have a common ancestor, most of those would be before the earliest 1777 records on microfilm, so we don't know if the common ancestor lived in the 18th, or 17, or 16th century.

In summary, the 26 family lines that I found in this project have a total of 7 duplicates, so the actual ancestral lines might be anywhere from 19 to 26.

It's also more complicated because of NPEs - Non Paternal Events - such as secret adoption, illegitimacy, cuckoldry, etc - cases where a well documented family line is actually not genetically continuous. NPEs are rare, perhaps 1% or 3% per generation, but there are about a hundred generation events on page 1, so the probability of 1 or 2 or 3 NPEs is reasonable.

My Pedigree Chart. I found 18 family lines for my grandfather's ancestry from Wadowice Gorne. See page 160 of my on-line book.

<http://www.gwozdz.org/GwozdzFamilyTreeLivingDeleted.pdf>

My grandfather was born 1885, close to Wladyslaw Gula born 1889 [2], and page 1 here has 13 for Wladyslaw; I found more for my grandfather because I spent more time and effort for him. I studied not only the Wadowice Gorne microfilms but also records at near by parishes where I found an ancestor who moved to Wadowice Gorne. I studied records at the parish rectory that have not been microfilmed. I guess that implies that if someone spends more effort, it might be possible to find evidence for about 18 lines for Wladyslaw and about 18 for Antonia Sypek [6], born 1893.

When I started this project, I expected to find a common ancestor for me and Dave Gula. It's interesting that I did not, although I found two cases of common ancestry between Dave's grandparents - discussed in the previous topic - Gula 2 with high confidence and Turski with lower confidence.

My pedigree chart has only one duplicate family name where I did not establish a connection.

My pedigree chart has 4 family names in common with Dave Gula's: Gula, Sypek, Morytko, and Ogorzalek. I suppose it is likely we have a common ancestor in one or more of those lines just before the 1777 earliest records. That is, among those 64 names (32 ancestral couples) that belong in column 1 on page 1. If that's the case, we would be 6th cousins. If that's not the case, surely we are 7th cousins - related back around 1700, where Dave has 64 ancestral couples and I have 32. We could easily be 7th cousins in 4 different lines, which is genetically equivalent to 6th cousins.
